

I think cable companies should allow a la carte channels. There's only three channels I want from their "packages" and they're not worth $12 to get them. They lump in unsavory channels in with a couple of good ones and cable fees are already too high.